Paul Precht

Paul Precht is an energy economist based in Edmonton. He has an MA in Economics from the University of Alberta, has taught economics at the Northern Alberta Institute of Technology (NAIT) in Edmonton, and has worked in the Treasury, Environment and Energy departments of the Government of Alberta as an economic analyst and an executive.

Since 2000, he has been a consultant in energy economics, providing training, analysis and advice on energy markets, energy policies, royalty and fiscal structures and regulatory frameworks to public sector and private sector clients in Canada and internationally. His work has extended throughout Canada, as well as to Latin America, Africa and Asia. His international clients have included the World Bank, the International Monetary Fund, the Commonwealth Secretariat and the African Development Bank.

Paul is a past President of the Economics Society of Northern Alberta, a member of the International Association for Energy Economics and the Association of International Petroleum Negotiators and has served on the Board of the Canadian Petroleum Institute, the Canadian Energy Research Institute and the Alberta Chamber of Resources.

Paul is also an active member of the community. He has served on several committees and organizations: his community league executive, charter member of Ceyana Canoe Club, board member of the Edmonton MCC Thrift Store and currently as executive of the Rocky Mountain Seniors Club. He has been a long-time member and leader in the Canadian Ski Patrol System and organizer of the Klondike Canoe Regatta for many years. He is a treasurer for his church and coaches hockey and soccer in his community.
