

In this issue:

- Engineering Drawing Submissions by Paper are a Thing of the Past
- City to Issue Request for Proposal for External Review of Approval Process
- Growth Analysis Unit releases 2014 Annual Growth Monitoring Report
- Edmonton's Infill Roadmap Created from Evolving Infill Project
- Register Now for Planning Academy!
- City Welcomes Many New Staff

Engineering Drawing Submissions by Paper are a Thing of the Past

It has been a little over six months since the City launched eServices and ePlan for the purpose of submitting, circulating, reviewing and approving engineering drawings. With over 80 percent of projects being submitted through ePlan currently, the City is fast approaching their ultimate goal of receiving all submissions electronically by January 1st, 2015.

City to Issue Request for Proposal for External Review of Approval Process

Although the Current Planning Branch has recently introduced improvements such as electronic plan submissions to increase productivity, external stakeholders have expressed concern over the timeliness and effectiveness of various work processes.

Growth Analysis Unit releases 2014 Annual Growth Monitoring Report

How is Edmonton Growing? The Growth Analysis unit released the 2014 Annual Growth Monitoring Report: Our Growing City. The report provides an economic, demographic and development snapshot of Edmonton. It shows that Edmonton is growing in, up and out.

Edmonton's Infill Roadmap Created from Evolving Infill Project

What do garage and garden suites, pilot projects, and better notification letters for infill related permit and zoning applications have in common? Edmonton's Infill Roadmap! These are just some of the actions contained in the Roadmap, a coordinated work plan for the City containing 23 actions to support more and better infill across Edmonton's established neighbourhoods.

2014 VOLUME 4

Welcome to the 4th Edition of the Development Coordination Bulletin for 2014. Construction is approaching the end of its season. The entire City experienced growth and revitalization this year.

DEVELOPMENT COORDINATION BULLETIN

The Development Coordination Bulletin aims to provide the most up to date information to the land development industry about our services.

Visit our webpage to find the latest news and sign up to receive future bulletins straight to your inbox as soon as they are published.

Register Now for Planning Academy!

Interested in learning about how you can have your say in Edmonton's future? Want to learn about why Urban Planning is critical to the development of our city? Registration is now open for Fall courses!

City Welcomes Many New Staff

The City has welcomed several new staff over the past few months as well as several staffing changes.

Subscribe | Unsubscribe | Printable Version | Send this to a friend

www.edmonton.ca
5th Floor, 10250 - 101 Street NW
Edmonton, Alberta
Canada
T5J 3P4