City of Edmonton
Citizen Perception Survey
Draft Report
January 2014

We are proud to present you with this research report, which was produced under the stringent quality standards of our company and those of the Marketing Research and Intelligence Association (MRIA). We are confident that this report will address your concerns and we hope to have the privilege of serving you again in the near future.

President
CONTEXT AND OBJECTIVES
The Way Ahead is the City of Edmonton’s strategic vision for 2040. To achieve this long term vision, six ten-year goals and corporate outcomes have been set by Council. City departments contribute towards these goals and outcomes.

In 2012, the City of Edmonton contracted Leger to conduct a survey of Edmontonians designed to understand perceptions of the City of Edmonton on various aspects. In 2013, Leger was contracted to repeat this survey, in order to determine the current perceptions of Edmontonians, and identify changes (if any) since the 2012 survey.

The data from this survey, along with other non-opinion based performance measures, will be used to monitor the progress of the city towards select corporate outcomes.
RESEARCH METHODS

Data Collection

- Random telephone survey of 400 Edmontonians; Data collection began on December 17th and finished on December 23rd 2013. Targets were set by the following demographic variables:
  - Gender
  - Age
  - City Wards
- Minor weighting was done to ensure that the data were representative of the Edmonton population.

Target Respondents

- Edmontonians, 18 years of age or older, who have lived in Edmonton for 6 months or longer

Analysis

- Statistical reliability: as a random telephone survey, the margin of error for a sample size of 400 respondents is ±4.9 percentage points, 19 times out of 20.
- Throughout this report, percentages may not add to 100% due to rounding

Questionnaire Design

- The questionnaire was amended slightly from the 2012 version. Any changes in question wording have been noted throughout this report, as has the addition of new questions.

New question in 2013

Q5. What will make you feel more connected with your community?

- “More community meetings, that sort of thing. There doesn’t seem to be that much of that.”
- “Community meetings with our community councillor - community league where we could meet with our councillor.”
- “Getting out and being more a part of the community.”
- “I think more community programs that integrate the different ages of people who are living in the community, for example more aging in place facilities that might be joined with the local elementary schools or daycare or medical centres. Places where people of different ages can come together and have their needs met and to build a stronger community.”
- “Probably more community meetings and more people involved in the community. Skating rinks, soccer fields for the kids, neighbourhood watch. Anything that brings people together.”
Q6. I will now read out a list of various community activities you may or may not have been involved in. Which of these, if any, have you been involved in, in the past 12 months? Q7. On average, how many hours a month would you say that you volunteer?

Three-quarters of Edmontonians have done at least one volunteering activity in the past 12 months. On average, Edmontonians who spent time volunteering volunteered 11 hours per month. In general, Edmontonians aged 34-55 tend to be more likely to volunteer than their older and younger counterparts.

Quality of Life: Edmontonians have a good quality of life and enjoy living in Edmonton, which is culturally diverse, open and welcoming to newcomers, and a great place to work and live.

- Edmontonians are satisfied overall (71%) with their quality of life, consistent with 2012 (75%). Opportunities exist to improve perceptions of Edmonton being well-designed and attractive (38%), and the public transit system (37%).
- Opinions are improving in 2013 in terms of Edmontonians feeling that the city is a great place to invest, is environmentally responsible, and is clean.

Community Engagement: High participation in life enriching activities and volunteering.

- In the past 12 months, the majority (84%) of Edmontonians have participated in at least three life enriching activities, consistent with 2012, and three-quarters have volunteered (75%).

- Opportunities exist to increase sense of community overall, consistent with 2012. Currently, four-in-ten feel connected with their community overall. While three-in-five (60%) feel connected with their neighbours, less than half feel connected with other Edmontonians (45%) and groups/organizations (35%).
  - When asked what would make them feel more connected with their community, residents suggested having more community events/activities/festivals and personally trying harder to become more involved.

Note: Percentages in parentheses indicate positive (‘Yes’ or 4/5 ratings on a 5 point scale)
Services and Amenities: The majority have access and knowledge about services and programs offered by the City.

- Over two-thirds (69%) of Edmontonians have access to services and amenities that improve their quality of life, and three-in-five (60%) feel they have sufficient knowledge about City programs and services.

- Services and Programs: Edmontonians most frequently use news stories in the media (86% accessed in past 12 months), and the City’s website (75% accessed in past 12 months) to access information regarding services and programs.

- Programs, Services, or Policies: Over half of Edmontonians have used the City website for information about programs, services or policies in the past year. Less than one-in-five has used the website to find out about council meetings and decisions or to file a property assessment or development appeal. The majority of Edmontonians are satisfied with the respective services that they have used.

Safety: Edmonton is a safe city, especially within homes and communities.

- Two thirds (66%) of Edmontonians agree Edmonton is safe overall, even higher majorities feel safe in their homes (89%), can get help from family, friends or neighbours if needed (83%), and feel safe in their communities (79%).

Note: Percentages in parentheses indicate positive (‘Yes’ or 4/5 ratings on a 5 point scale)
Awareness and Engagement with City Processes: High awareness of ways to provide input to the city, however, lower awareness of how to access / connect with city council decisions.

- Almost all (90%) Edmontonians know how to find information about voting in a municipal election. However, less than half (37%-49%) are aware of how to access / connect with the various city council decisions, consistent with 2012.

- Nine-in-ten (88%) Edmontonians are aware of at least one way they can provide their inputs to the City’s decision making processes.
  - The proportion of Edmontonians aware they can write or email members of council (70% in 2012, 77% in 2013), start petitions (58% in 2012, 74% in 2013), appeal property assessments or developments (61% in 2012, 69% in 2013), and/or speak at public hearings (50% in 2012, 63% in 2013) to provide their inputs has increased since 2012.
