Edmonton Combative Sports Policy: Suspensions and Rest Periods for Combative Sport Contestants

Description

After every match a contestant will require a compulsory rest and recovery period to heal from the match. This compulsory recovery period is designated as a “medical suspension.” It is posted on international data bases, informing all Commissions that a contestant has competed and as a result of the competition and a post-fight medical examination by ringside physicians, is currently serving a medical suspension assigned by the ringside physician who did the examination. The ringside physicians of the Edmonton Combative Sports Commission (ECSC) are tasked with the safety and well being of the contestant. They seek to ensure contestants do not engage in another match before they have had adequate time to heal from their last fight.

Rationale

To determine the amount of time to medically suspend a contestant after a particular match to ensure the contestant has time to heal before participating in training and before competing in a subsequent match.

Procedure

1. The ECSC’s ringside physician shall impose a “medical suspension” or a mandatory rest and recovery period on each contestant/fighter after a bout.
2. The ECSC’s ringside physician shall impose medical suspensions for BOXERS for at least the following minimum periods:

3. The ECSC's ringside physician shall impose medical suspensions or mandatory rest periods of any duration, for Mixed Martial Arts (MMA) or MUAYTHAI contestants, based on post-fight medical evaluations and the following considerations:
  - a. Seven (7) day medical suspension for an MMA or Muaythai contestant who has not suffered any noticeable physical injury and increasing time for additional damage or suspected injury, depending on the post-fight medical evaluation of the fighter by the ringside physician.
  - b. If a contestant has been knocked out or has incurred a technical knockout from blows to the head, a medical suspension for a period of not less than thirty (30) days.
  - c. If an MMA or Muaythai contestant has been knocked out a two (2) consecutive times or has incurred two (2) successive technical knockouts from blows to the head, after the second knockout, a medical suspension for a period of not less than sixty (60) days.
  - d. If an MMA or Muaythai contestant has been knocked out three (3) times or has incurred three (3) technical knockouts from blows to the head, after the third knockout, a medical suspension for a period of not less than ninety (90) days.
4. The ECSC's ringside physician may impose an indefinite medical suspension which will be removed only at the satisfaction of the imposing physician upon subsequent medical examination.
5. A contestant (boxer, MMA or Muaythai) shall not take part in a bout/contest during a period of medical suspension or a mandatory rest period ordered by the ECSC.
6. The penalty for taking part in a contest during a medical suspension is a prohibition of up to a one (1) year prohibiting that individual from applying for and receiving a combative sports license from the ECSC.
