City of Edmonton - Valley Line West LRT Project

In July, the City of Edmonton temporarily paused its design-build-finance-vehicle procurement for the Valley Line West Light Rail Transit Project (CAD $2.6 billion) and announced its intent to reach out to market participants to schedule sounding interviews.

Those interviews are now complete, and the City thanks all who participated.

The City is currently considering its next steps including procurement options and value for money analysis, which are ongoing. The City expects to make an announcement clarifying the intended procurement approach for the Valley Line West in early November.

Valley Line West is a 14-kilometre urban-style light rail extension from Downtown to Lewis Farms in west Edmonton with 14 street-level stops and two elevated stations.
