

INCLUSION

Edmonton is our home.

No matter who forms the next provincial government, Edmonton is essential to Alberta's future. We need to work together with the Government of Alberta to build a thriving, safe, sustainable and welcoming city for every Edmontonian.

That's why, this provincial election, we need to Ask About Edmonton.

Asking about Edmonton is a great way to start a positive conversation about the kind of city we want to live in, and for your voice to be heard in the 2023 Alberta General Election.

A diverse and inclusive city is a safe city.

We all benefit when more people feel safe and included. Make Truth and Reconciliation and action on anti-racism part of the conversation in the provincial election.

Did you know?

- According to the 2021 census, 26% of Edmonton's population was born outside of Canada.
- In 2021, 40.3% of the general population of Edmonton identified as a visible minority, the 4th highest in Alberta, up by 10.8% in the previous five years.
- Nearly 90,000 Indigenous people live in Edmonton, about 6% of the population, but approximately 57% of unhoused people in Edmonton identify as Indigenous.

Conversation starters:

- What will your party do to ensure people from all backgrounds feel safe and at home in Edmonton?
- The proportion of Indigenous people experiencing homelessness in Edmonton is incredibly high. What will your party do to address this?
- An inclusive city is a safe city. What plans do you have to take action on anti-racism?

Active on social media?

Use #AskAboutEdmonton during the 2023 Alberta General Election and follow the City of Edmonton on Twitter, Instagram and Facebook and tune in to the Ask About Edmonton conversation.

