

Construction Notice – Ongoing Concrete Pours near 111 Street and 23 Avenue

 Listen to this newsletter

From now until late 2026, Leducor will continue to pour concrete for the future LRT underpass near 111 Street and 23 Avenue. Concrete pours started in summer 2025 and will continue to happen about once a week until late 2026. Pours may occur during the day, at night, or early morning, including weekends. Pours can last continuously for approximately eight hours.

Throughout this work, flaggers will be on site to momentarily stop traffic to allow concrete trucks access to the construction zone. The area will see an increase in truck traffic as well as a temporary increase in noise.

We apologize for the inconvenience this may cause, and thank residents and drivers for their patience during this time. The photos below show the significant progress already made on the LRT underpass.

Other Impacts

- Heavy truck traffic will increase on 111 Street and 23 Avenue.
- Concrete pouring will also occur in the construction zones at Blackmud Creek Bridge and Anthony Henday Drive Bridge during the above time frames and may also be subject to momentary traffic stoppages.
- Vehicle noise will be associated with this work. Mitigation measures are in place to minimize these disruptions as much as possible. Ledcor is committed to following all City of Edmonton bylaws* and regulations and has obtained an overnight permit so work can take place during overnight hours. *City of Edmonton Bylaw C14600.

Quick Facts

- Approximately 9,250m³ of concrete needs to be poured for the 23 Avenue LRT underpass structure (piles excluded). This is roughly 1,100 truck loads of concrete. That's equivalent to the weight of almost 153 blue whales!
- Concrete is locally sourced from Rolling Mix's plant near Anthony Henday Drive and Yellowhead Freeway.
