Garneau, or The Garneau as it was once known, is one of the oldest neighbourhoods in Edmonton, and has roots of deep historical significance to the University of Alberta, the City of Edmonton, and the Province of Alberta. Numerous prominent citizens have lived here in the decades since the area was created in 1912. Its historic homes are surrounded by trendy cafes, shops and apartments.

Belgravia is a community just south of the University and University Avenue. It is characterized by a large urban forest of elm trees along the streets and primarily residential houses. It is bordered on the west side by the North Saskatchewan River valley, an area that provides many great walking opportunities. From Belgravia you can walk to Heritage Days in the summer and ski all the way up a hill was so fast, it was like a BB gun.

Windsor Park was a subdivision that was created in 1935, just prior to the amalgamation between Edmonton and Strathcona, during the land booms in the early part of the 20th century. Most of the development occurred in the 1950s. It features larger estate homes and new infill development along with open green spaces. Large parks such as William Hawrelak and Emily Murphy are nearby and easily accessible on foot.

McKernan is located directly south of the University campus and offers older, renovated and new infill homes on tree-lined streets with excellent transport connections. It was named for James McKernan, a prominent businessman and citizen of Edmonton’s early rival, the City of Strathcona. McKernan became part of Edmonton through amalgamation in 1912, but development of the area was delayed until McKernan Lake was drained during the 1930s.

Windsor Park, Garneau, Belgravia and McKernan four vibrant communities that put you in the centre of Edmonton and are perfect for those choosing an active lifestyle in a vibrant area.

About Community Walking Maps

Walking with your Dog 🐶

Edmonton has over 40 locations where you can enjoy your walk while your dog is off-leash. Please remember that all sites where dogs are permitted to be off-leash are multi-use areas used by all. Your dog must be leashed when not in a designated off-leash area. The dog icons show on this map are placed in the approximate location of each off-leash area, but do not show the precise boundaries. For more information, including details on off-leash boundaries, check the Parks for Paws Brochure or go to edmonton.ca (keyword off-leash)

There are 1440 minutes in a day, schedule 30 of them for walking!
